'Joy To The World'--

Almost every evening since December 15 the sound of carolling has been heard after nightfall in Carmel. The Pine Cone picked one of many groups to photograph. These carollers are pictured on the front page of this issue.

Between seven and eight o'clock on Monday night, members of ten families gathered at the home of Donald and Margaret Hays on the edge of Hatton Fields Mesa. They all climbed into Joe McEldowney's truck and then, seated on bales of hay, wandered through the town singing the songs of Christmas. Robert Forbes was their accompanist playing a portable reed organ. In all, they stopped at a score of homes and once at the intersection of Ocean Avenue and San Carlos Street before ending up at the George Walker home in the Eighty Acres for festivities.

Besides those already named, those who carolled Tuesday were members of the Hugh Smith, James S. Neill and Eben Whittlesey families plus Mrs. Jane Dunaway and her daughter Tina, Mrs. Richard Lofton and Miss Nancy Larson—in all 31 persons and Regan, Carmel's most famous dog. Alisa Smith hopped off the truck at the various stops, knocked on doors, and told those so honored that they were being serenaded.

Lower right is a group of the youngest carollers belting out "Jingle Bells" to the accompaniment of the Walkers' player piano. Filled by cocoa, sandwiches and cookies, the youngsters were still fresh after singing about town for three hours. They are, at left, Jeff Walker and next to him his sister, Kathleen. In front of her is Tina Dunaway and almost hidden above her, Carolyn and Becky Walker. Alisa Smith is leaning on the piano above Kathleen McEldowney who dubs in action on the keyboard. In the top row from left are Celia Neill and Randy and Ginny Smith.

City Fathers Ask Santa Claus For Gifts To Carmel

The Pine Cone asked Mayor Herbert Blanks and Councilmen Eben Whittlesey, James Buffington, Gunnar Norberg and Stephen Grant what they would like Santa Claus to pack in his sack for Carmel this evening. Their Christmas wishes for the town are printed below.

MAYOR BLANKS

The Mayor would like Santa Claus to carry in his sleigh to Carmel fullgrown pine trees —enough to fill the center planting strip on Junipero Street from Ocean Avenue to Fourth Street. And if Santa is already overloaded, Mayor Blanks says he will be satisfied with smaller pines.

COUNCILMAN WHITTLESEY

Mr. Whittlesey asks no bulky presents for Carmel from Santa Claus but his list contains three requests. First is that Santa will bring to Carmel a solution, satisfactory to everyone, for the use of Sunset School when it becomes city property.

Secondly, Mr. Whittlesey would like another solution . . . a harmonious one to the question of annexation of South Carmel to the city.

Lastly, he wants Santa to bring a drastic downward revision of the city's dog license fees. (Mr. Whittlesey's Guide Dog, Regan, always wears the city's Number One dog tag.)

COUNCILMAN NORBERG

Mr. Norberg is asking for two spiritual gifts for Carmel and one, to him, very practical present.

The first package that he wants left under the municipal Christmas tree is a better understanding of Section 1300 of the municipal code. Mr. Norberg is the greatest reciter in the city of this section. But just in case some citizens,

Carmel Christmas Tree Has Interesting History

This year, as in many other years, Christmas in Carmel means lights shining on the big pine on Ocean Avenue at the foot of the hill.

The idea of the tree goes back to 1918. In December of that year the Pine Cone had an article entitled "A Novel Idea." It reads as follows,

"It has been suggested that one of the splendid pines on Ocean Avenue be decorated with bright colors and small electric lights. Carol singers and townspeople might gather there . . . It certainly is a unique idea, and if adopted, will grow year by year into a distinctive Christmas festival."

Six years later, in 1926, a tree, sponsored by the community, was lighted. The Pine Cone says this about it. "On Christmas Eve the lovely community tree was ablaze with colored light and topped by a brilliant star. At seven o'clock most of the kiddies of the town and many of the older people were gathering there. At 7:30, beloved carols were sung and then the real business of the evening started—the presenting of gifts from the tree by Santa Claus."

There had been other tree celebrations in the years preceding but 1926 was the first year the community, as a whole, undertook to light a pine on Ocean Avenue. Before that trees had been lighted by individuals in front of Leidig's grocery, Pine Inn and the Curtis candy store. By 1926, however, the town had become too big for one person to manage the tree. So Mrs. Marie Gordon headed a board of sponsors and the tradition of the community tree was established.

Metz Durham was Santa Claus at Carmel's first community Christmas tree celebration.

The following year, 1927, church bells, also the bell at Sunset School, announced "the glad tidings that the Tree had blazed into light and that Santa Claus is on his way," a Pine Cone story says. At the same time as the bells rang forth, Gay Chinn, sounded a clarion call on his bugle and this was followed by chimes played on a xylophone.

Fenton Foster led the carol singing around the tree and Mrs. H. F. Dickinson directed a six-piece orchestra, composed of two violins, a cello, a saxophone and the xylophone. Santa Claus distributed 300 balloons and 300 cornucopias made by the Girl Scouts.

This largesse was also made possible by a group which called itself "Santa Claus, Incorporated." These persons were "Samuel G. Blythe, Marie Gordon, Mrs. Folger, Edna M. Sheridan, Mrs. Robert G. Leidig, Kathryn and Patsy Ball, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Kingsland, George L. Wood, Peter Mawdsley, Ella M. Kellogg, Mrs. Harvey, Miss Gladys Harvey, Mrs. Day and daughter, Joseph G. Smith, James Auto Livery, W. C. Campbell, Thomas Bickle, Mrs. Mary May, Dr. C. H. Davidson, Mrs. Caroline B. Silva and a number of Anonymities," so the Pine Cone says. The P.T.A. sponsored the tree celebration that year.

In 1929, the year the Great Depression started, the city fathers stepped into the community Christmas tree picture and even put a little money into Santa's purse.

That year, according to the Pine Cone, "Santa Claus will be ably assisted in Carmel on Christmas Eve by a committee appointed by the Mayor. That Santa Claus may not be hampered by stock market reverses, the city council has awarded him $50 from the general fund that will provide a present for every boy and girl in Carmel."

The Mayor's committee was made up of Marie Gordon, Blanche Tolmie, Fenton Foster, Henry Dickinson and Metz Durham.

"The Christmas tree," the Pine Cone story adds, "will stand where nature planted it in the center of Ocean Avenue close to Junipero Street."

Five years later, the Carmel Woman's Club, the P.T.A., the American Legion, the Boy Scouts, the churches and Sunset School sponsored the Christmas tree celebration.

Children of the town met at the Manzanita Club (now the American Legion Hall) and paraded up Dolores Street to Ocean and then up Ocean to the tree. They carried lighted Chinese lanterns and sang carols.

According to the Pine Cone, "a nag from Bettie Greene's stables" was a worthy successor to the Peake donkeys, Carmel's original brace of reindeer." Bettie's buggy was the conveyance in which Santa Claus arrived.

"As for Santa Claus himself," the paper's story goes, "the rumor is that Joseph Schoeninger disappeared from his home on Carmel Point early in the evening and didn't show up again until the last Christmas present had been delivered into the hands of the last sparkling-eyed child under the tree."

This was the year that "the snow storm of white paper artfully contrived by Henry Dickinson had a tendency to fall up instead of down, thanks to a prankish breeze, but then there is always an uncertainty about the elements. It was a first class snowstorm, however, it simply fell over a wider area than was expected. One might say it blanketed Carmel."

Frank Sheridan was the leader of the carol singing that year. Metz Durham and Blanche Tolmie, also Fenton Foster, worked hard, too, to make the tree celebration a success in 1929. Tom Reardon and Hugh Comstock supplied the men to put up the decorations.

Except for a time during World War II, the Carmel Christmas tree has come alight on December 15. As the town grew, Santa could no longer distribute presents to all the children of Carmel. Groups of Girl Scouts, and some others, continued to sing carols in Devendorf Plaza near the tree, but the community, as a whole, no longer participated in tree-lighting or carol singing celebrations.

At least, not until this month. Sponsored by the members of the Carmel Youth Center, the community once again gathered to see the tree lighted this year. The Carmel High School Choir sang and the several hundred persons at the celebration joined them in one carol. This was the signal for the tree to be lighted . . . and a tradition of many years ago was revived.

By Harry W. Fletcher

No. 87

The world is filled up with so many new things,
We haven't much time for the old,
'Til a letter arrives or the telephone rings,
Then we shiver as tho from the cold.

Compared to the millions of people around,
There's only a few that are friends;
And in spite of how selfish or trite it may sound,
I hate it when such friendship ends.

So do me a favor, dear neighbors, take care —
To friends and acquaintances, too:
Drive carefully — since there are none I can spare;
For who's more important than you?

Take safety precautions — watch over your health,
And keep me from sorrow and tears;
While I'll do the same — because better than wealth
Are friendships that last through the years.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

Art Martell, fire prevention officer of the U.S. Forest Service stationed at the Big Sur Guard Station, Mrs. Martell and their family will spend Christmas Day at the home of Mrs. Martell's parents in Salinas. Joining the family gathering will be Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Martell and daughter from Phoenix. Mr. and Mrs. Don Eberle will also be present. Don Eberle is a former patrolman with the U.S. Forest Service in Big Sur. The Thomas Martells will spend the New Year's holiday in Big Sur.

Ralph D. Haskins, a member of the U.S. Forest Service, has been re-assigned to the Salmon Creek Guard Station of the Los Padres National Forest located on Highway One in the southern part of Monterey County. Mr. Haskins and the former Miss Tina Warren of Big Sur were married in late September and since that time they have been stationed at the guard station at Big Sur. During the winter months, Mr. Haskins, together with other members of the Forest Service crew, are on "back-country" duty which involves the rebuilding and checking of trails, repairing camp sites, and generally preparing for the spring and summer use of the National Forest.

The Right Reverend James A. Pike, Episcopal Bishop of the Diocese of California, conducted the Holy Communion service, at the Santa Lucia Mission, Big Sur, last Sunday. It was Bishop Pike's first visit to the Big Sur Chapel and the occasion also marked the Feast of Santa Lucia. The coastal mountains, the Santa Lucia Range, take their name from this early Christian martyr, who proclaimed her faith by distributing her possessions to the less fortunate. This evening, at the Santa Lucia Mission, there will be a special Christmas Eve service beginning at 8:00 o'clock which will be conducted by Father Farmer of All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel.

Alan Watts, author, lecturer and philosopher, will conduct a three-day seminar, beginning New Year's Day, at the Big Sur Hot Springs Lodge. Dr. Watts has conducted numerous seminars throughout California and has frequently taken part in discussion program at the Hot Springs. Watts is author of a book entitled "The Two Hands Of God" which is illustrated with material from Chinese, Indian, Egyptian, Iranian and Early Christian sources and in which he points out the power of poetry to express things which escape the language of prose and science.

America and China—a critique of American policy toward Red China, and analysis of the political, economic and psychological aspects of the past and present policy, will be the subject of a three-day discussion, January 29-31, at the Hot Springs Lodge. Speakers will be Linus Pauling, twice awarded the Nobel Peace Prize and presently associated with the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara; Ralph B. Atkinson, consulting engineer and a resident at Bixby Creek; Dennis Doolin, a member of the Hoover Institute at Stanford University; Robert E. Gomperts of Calagrex, Inc., San Francisco; John Raser, an associate in research at the Western Behavioral Sciences Institute, La Jolla; and George Zinnovich, professor of political science at the University of California at Berkeley.

Ending a month's travel through Washington, Oregon and Northern California, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Merryman of Three Rivers, California, spent several days last week visiting friends at Rancho Pequeno on the Sur Coast. Mr. Merryman, a ranger stationed at Sequoia National Park, and Mrs. Merryman were greatly impressed with their tour of the old adobes in Monterey, which was concluded by a performance at California's First Theatre. The visitors were taken on a drive down the coast and stopped to visit the several state parks from Big Sur south to Cambria. The trip included a tour of the Hearst San Simeon State Historical Monument.

CITY TO TAKE TITLE TO SUNSET SCHOOL

On Wednesday afternoon at 1 p.m. in city hall the city council will meet in special session for the purpose of taking title to the Sunset School site and buildings from the Carmel Unified School District. From city hall, the council will go to Sunset School to complete the changeover of ownership ceremonies.

The school district will continue to use the Sunset property until the end of June and pay the city $2,000 a month rent during this period. A $575,000 bond issue to purchase the Sunset facility for a municipal cultural and community center was approved by Carmel voters in April.

ACCIDENT AT BRIDGE

In the rain and fog of last night Captain and Mrs. Shirley Young Cutler of Carmel, driving to Carmel River Inn, collided at the inn's turn-off and Highway One with a car driven by Theodore Criley Jr., of Claremont. Both Captain and Mrs. Cutler, suffering head, arm and leg lacerations, were taken to Community Hospital by Carmel Red Cross ambulance, after being treated at the scene of the accident by members of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department who operate the ambulance.

The driver and passenger in the second car Mrs. Irene Frick, were uninjured.

Open House In Valley

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Barron chose last Saturday evening as the time to hold a Christmas open house party for their friends. Guests came from Salinas as well as the Peninsula to wish the Barrons a "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year" as local residents. They came back to live here this Fall from the San Francisco Bay area.

An Unusual Gift

In addition to the glittering gifts under the Christmas tree, Judge Gordon Campbell and Mrs. Campbell will receive a very special gift from their oldest daughter, Lynn. A gift which she has earned all herself and that has arrived just in time for Christmas —Lynn's certificate from the state board of examiners announcing that she is now a registered nurse. After a vacation with her family in Carmel, Lynn plans to return to college to earn her B.S. degree.

Julie, a student at the University of Oregon, has also arrived for the holiday vacation. Mr. and Mrs. F. W Reid of Grant's Pass, Oregon, Mrs. Campbell's sister and brother-in-law, and Polly Campbell will complete the family party around the Campbell's festive board tomorrow.

The fifteenth installation of officers of Carmel Chapter No. 581, O.E.S., was held recently in the Cypress Club.

Mrs. Paul Tekawa, wearing an Ellen blue satin jeweled gown and carrying a bouquet of blue and lavender flowers centered with an orchid and accented with gold ribbon, was installed as worthy matron. Norman C. Winslow was installed as worthy patron.

Other officers installed for the ensuing year were Mrs. Norman Winslow, associate matron; Paul Tekawa, associate patron; Mrs. Ed Durel, P.M. secretary; Mrs. John Westover, P.M. treasurer; Mrs. Thomas Byers, conductress; Mrs. John Craven, associate conductress; Mrs. Clyde Klaumann, chaplain; Mrs. Florinda Holm, marshal; Mrs. George Bloomer, organist; Mrs. Newton Goodrich, Adah, Mrs. Lilas Foley, Ruth; Mrs. Dorothy Olson, Esther; Mrs. Minton Parrish, Martha; Mrs. John Flatley, Electa; John Westover, P.P., Warder; Kenneth Roberts, P.P. Sentinel. Mr. George Bloomer, P.P., was appointed Flag Bearer and Mrs. Clifford H. Cook, P.M., Prompter.

Installing officers were Mrs. Clifford H. Cook and Kenneth Roberts, retiring worthy matron and patron. They were assisted by Mrs. Hazael Marsh Piper, past grand matron of the Grand Chapter, State of California; Mrs. Chet Dunn, grand marshal; Mrs. Burleigh Zak and Mrs. Norman Fontes, both past matrons of Carmel Chapter; Mr. Thomas Byers, P.P., installing chaplain; Mrs. James Farlinger, past matron of Monterey Chapter, installing organist; Mr. Donald Ashton, past patron of Ocean Spray Chapter, Pacific Grove, installing flag bearer.

Mr. Paul Hazdovac was the soloist for the evening.

Mrs. Robert Little, P.M., and Mrs. Kenneth Roberts, P.M., gowned in matching lavender chiffon dresses were the installing marshals. Lavender, blue and gold were used throughout the chapter room and banquet room, also the emblem of the year, the lamp of truth in the East, and the watchwords, Sincerity and Truth in the West.

Mrs. Dorothy Ashley, P.M., and George Bloomer, P.P., were the hostess and host for the evening.

Mrs. Samuel Coleman, P.M., and Mrs. Eugene Scheffer, P.M., were the receptionists. William Bjornvold, P.P., and Egon Durr, P.P., were the ushers. Mrs. P. J. Leighty, P.M., was in charge of the guest book.

Officers escorted and presented were Mrs. Hazael Marsh Piper, P.G.M.; Mrs. Chet Dunn, grand marshal; Mrs. Charles Pearson, D.G.M. of the 45th District and Mrs. Harvey Harris, D.G.M. of the 44th District; Mrs. Gladys Snyder, Grand representative to the state of Nebraska in California.

Worthy matrons and patrons for 1965 receiving escort were Mrs. Martha Bickel and Jim Farlinger, Monterey; Ella A. M. Sur-

Artist Danny Garcia in front of one of Don Wolf's favorite paintings displayed in his Collector's Show at the new Carmel Museum of Modern Art, at Sixth and Dolores.

During the Christmas holidays the Carmel Museum of Modern Art is holding its first Collectof's Show of works by Danny Garcia during the past three years. The pictures on display will be the entire private collection of Don Wolf of Maywood, New Jersey. The museum is located on Sixth Street between Dolores and San Carlos streets.

Danny Garcia was born in Monterey and grew up amid the bustle of Monterey's waterfront. For five years he worked as lab assistant for Ed Ricketts on whom John Steinbeck modeled the character called "Doc" in Cannery Row.

The color and drama of boats and fishing, also the waterfront, are a source of inspiration for Garcia's painting.

Recently, Mr. Garcia founded the Carmel School of Art which he heads. It is situated in the Swanston Building on Sixth Street.

Cruise From Mazatlan

Carmel's lady mariner, Charlotte Townsend, has returned to her home at San Antonio and Santa Lucia in time for Christmas after high adventure on the seas.

Charlotte left here early in November to attend the Mazatlan (Mexico) Invitational Yacht Races. At Newport she met Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Daniels. It is Mr. Daniels who, because of his long experience, is known on the west coast as the dean of yacht racing. The party eventually arrived in Mazatlan and Mr. Daniels invited Charlotte to sail back with them as a member of the crew on Peter Grant's vessel the Nalu II. Charlotte accepted the invitation and was listed as "Charlotte, Cocinera" (the cook) on the manifest. Keith Duppenthaler of Eureka completed the crew of four.

"Sailing along the coast of Mexico and Baja California was an exciting social affair," Charlotte told. "The yachts returning to California following the race kept close together and closest to us was Jon Konigshofer's Wildwind, captained by Harvey Kilpatrick of Pebble Beach, who, with his cousin, Jim Womble, owns the L-36 "Sayonara." Keith and Jim are both members of the Monterey Peninsula Yacht Club and keen racers. Also aboard the Wildwind were Wayne and Darlene Kocher of Santa Cruz who have many friends in Carmel.

The Nalu II, anchored in Newport harbor on December 12. Charlotte was voted a topside cook, but a bit vague at the helm.

Back in Carmel she is considering the advantages of St. Nick's sleigh versus a racing yacht.

London Taxi Arrives

In his column of Tuesday Herb Caen told of "a Reverend Gentleman of Carmel driving a London taxi down the Bayshore." This gentleman was the Reverend Robert Morse, assistant headmaster of the Episcopalian York School for Boys. The genuine "Lor' blimey" taxi was a gift to the school from one of its directors (he prefers to remain anonymous, but we can say he lives in Pebble Beach and is a bit of a car buff, also that he was in London last summer and sent the venerable conveyance home to San Francisco on a freighter).

The Reverend Robert Morse brought it home to the school, right hand drive, hooter and all. The car is now in a garage, having the name "York" replacing "Taxi." The car will be used to transport visitors from the airport and Carmel to the school.

Open House

City Attorney John Morse and Mrs. Morse held open house last evening. Friends of the younger generation of the family had an opportunity to greet George and his wife, Marlin, who arrived from Saratoga, where George is teaching in the Saratoga High School; Peter and his wife, Cindy, from Aptos; and Ken with his wife, Jean, from San Jose. Absent this Christmas will be, Beverly, who is in Mexico and John, who is cattle ranching in Montana.

Carmelights by Piñon

Every year it sneaks up on me. I keep thinking it's still months away even when the man on the radio keeps telling me it's only so many days.

But finally the spirit gets to me. Naturally!

The spirit gets to me first when we receive the annual greeting from our refuse collector. Something about that perky little card sticking out of the garbage can handle reassures me. Surely, the world can't be all bad.

Next I go window-looking and then almost anything Christmas wants to do is O.K. with me. It's got me by that time. What's prettier than Christmas decorations? The winner (by me) this year is Leo Tanous' window.

I just stood there with my mouth open—dim, happy, world-shared memories filling my mind. There's the popcorn we strung, what there was of it left unburned after we finished fighting over who got to pop the next batch. There are the bright, big cranberries that broke so many needles until we learned how; the darling little birds and tiny, tempting fruit. Those crazy silver, gold, pink, white, blue or even yellow (ugh!) facsimiles with their fantastic spun nylon baubles are certainly clever and gorgeous but they simply will never take the place of an honest-to-Pete real live evergreen. I don't care how many needles fall on the rug—or how many times it has to be explained to Puppy that this particular tree is not the kind he has in mind.

The amazing thing about the Tanous tree is that, real and live as it looks, it is made of wire. True, the lovely old aroma is not there but Margaret was determined to have a tree that would last and she did a beautiful job of decorating it. Besides, it's in an office. With a real tree the forest-y odor would become so alluring they'd never get any work done.

Have you heard those insurance company spot radio announcements in which you're given helpful hints? The station is provided with the whole series and whoever's in charge is supposed to use only those which apply in his area. Every now and then, one of our local announcers slips up and very sincerely admonishes us to be very careful when we shovel our snow.

Esther Austing took a group of her Troop 2158 Girl Scouts to Children's House last Saturday and they had a delightful time entertaining and being entertained by Ruth Ford's little students. I passed by just as a little boy hopped down the front steps. "Hey," he called, "You got any cookies?" "No, I'm sorry," I said. "Too bad," he waved me on, "We're having a party but only people with cookies can come."

The Carmel Well Baby Conference held its first clinic at the new home in the Red Cross building last Thursday and Dr. Woolley was a walking, talking season's greeting to all in his witty Christmas bow tie.

Well, the last school Christmas play ever to be given at Sunset has come and gone and it was grand. Sixth grade teacher Jo Brazelle is to be congratulated. The nostalgia of the audience was a very real presence—many members had appeared in their first Christmas plays right there—and it felt so good to let go and be part of it again when Miss Brazelle led us in that very original Christmas party song.

Last week Joan Thompson came up with the thoughtful idea of providing cookies for the faculty at Carmel Junior High so they could enjoy their pre-Christmas coffee breaks a little more. She enlisted the help of several mothers and pretty soon the idea reached other schools. Makes a nice picture: teachers all over Carmel speaking a little less harshly of the little dears on account of what good bakers their mothers are.

The lifesize creche in the patio at Su Vecino Restaurant is a lovely thing with its real palm thatched roof and it made a calm and serene contrast to the happy hysteria at their wonderful pinata party last Tuesday. All of the pinatas that Dick Taylor and August Nieto helped the children break were pretty but the one that took the cake was the last one; boss Herman Ayala had it modeled after his partner, Chico. Though there was definitely no reticence or inhibition and nobody tried to keep anybody quiet, it was one of the best-behaved gatherings I've ever seen and beautifully managed. There was only one difference of opinion the whole evening and that was between two young ladies over Donald Duck's head. It was amicably settled, though, almost biblically, in fact: each young lady took one eye.

And let that be a lesson to you

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

MERRY CHRISTMAS, MERRY CHRISTMAS,
MERRY CHRISTMAS, MERRY CHRISTMAS,
MERRY CHRISTMAS,
FROM ALL OF US AT THE LIBRARY!!!

If you have time to read during the holidays, we have some good new books to tempt you. First let us speak of THE DIARY OF ALICE JAMES. A sister to Henry and William James, Alice kept a diary during the last four years of her short life. She wrote her thoughts in a "scribbler," writing on the right hand pages all through the book, then turning it upside down and going through it again from the back. Leon Edel, who has written extensively on the James family, has edited the diary and caused it to be published now. This is a book you will enjoy and should not allow yourselves to miss

It would not be exactly correct to say that the next two books are about animals, for one is about a herring gull and the other about oysters. Franklin Russel has spent much of his life observing nature and writing about his observations. His new book is an account of the life of a herring gull, from fledgling to maturity and on to the end of its life. The title of the book is ARGEN THE GULL. The author did the photographs which serve as illustrations.

THE OYSTERS OF LOCMARIAQUER is by Eleanor Clark who is in private life the wife of novelist Robert Penn Warren. It is not only the story of the growing of oysters in France, but is also about the people who grow them and about the myths and legends of Brittany.

1001 BEST PLACES TO LIVE WHEN YOU RETIRE lists such places geographically, and for this area there are two entries. Using these two as a basis for comparison, you should be able to evaluate others. The early sections of the book offer guidance to the prospective retiree in his effort to decide if he is indeed ready to retire. It will also help him evaluate his earned retirement income as to its adequacy, and give him pointers on selling his present house. All these things can be most perplexing and any thoughtful advice is welcome. This seems a good thorough book and one which should be helpful.

This being the day of the picture book for adults, it was inevitable that Bible history should receive this handling, and Werner Keller has just had published THE BIBLE AS HISTORY IN PICTURES. There are 337 pictures, most of them linked with verses from the Bible, and all well indexed. There are chronological tables and a general index. Dr. Keller has done other books on the Bible, one of which had a similar title THE BIBLE AS HISTORY.

While hurrying to work the other morning, this librarian met a friend who was talking about a new book which had revolutionized her financial picture, and which she recommended enthusiastically. It so happens that the library copy goes into circulation this week, and that the title of the book is WHAT EVERY WOMAN DOESN'T KNOW. It was written by Gustave Simon. The thing is that if you are a woman, and you want any kind of financial advice, this book may be the place to start. From it you may decide to go on to an attorney or a tax expert, but this book will start you on your way in the right direction. Its style is factual, its index is good, and its message is clear.

We shall be serving coffee on Christmas Eve Day from two until four o'clock in the afternoon. You are invited, so please come!

Flight To Hawaii

Proving that not only ladies change their minds on the spur of the moment, Edgar Haber, president of the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club, decided that he needed a change of scene after the club's recent three-day open house.

Mr. Haber, with his daughter Marilyn, reached the San Francisco airport last mid-week, with all plans made for a few days in Reno. In less than a minute, with mutual agreement, they did a right about face, and flew to the Hawaiian Islands, where, Edgar tells, they saw "crowds" of Carmelites and dined twice, sumptuously, with Michael Gould, an ex-Carmel resident, now living at Kauai. Edgar and Marilyn returned to the Valley on Sunday night.

Home From Virgin Islands

Hilary Teague, who has been secretary to the vice-president of the College of the Virgin Islands in St. Thomas since September, arrived on Monday for Christmas with her family. "Terribly exciting plans for a calypso Christmas were in full swing when I left St. Thomas," Hilary said, "but I figured home would be even more exciting, and I guess I was a bit homesick. Dr. and Mrs. John Gratiot visited the islands recently and gave me Carmel news. And Margaret Peasley and I met at the airport, quite by happy accident, after she had spent hours trying to phone me in my new apartment, where I don't have a phone." Linda Teague, down from San Francisco today, for the long weekend, will complete the Donald Teague family Christmas.

Audubon Society Is Endeavoring To Save The California Condor

The National Audubon Society has launched a five-point program to save the California condor, the great, soaring black bird with the ten-foot wingspread that has gone down hill until it is rarer, and more endangered, than the whooping crane.

Two years of field research, sponsored by the society and directed by Dr. Alden H. Miller, University of California scientist, disclosed there are only about 40 of the giant birds left alive.

Fifteen years ago a similar study, also directed by Dr. Miller, showed there were about 60 condors. The 33 per cent decline is considered alarming by ornithologists.

The factor that threatens to push the condor over the brink is the gun—in the hands of hunters who don't know what they are shooting at or don't care. According to Dr. Miller and the two naturalists who conducted the field studies, Ian and Eben McMillan, the adult birds are being killed faster than they can reproduce in a national forest sanctuary that was set aside years ago to protect their nesting sites.

President Carl W. Buchheister of the National Audubon Society said the following measures will be carried out, all based upon recommendations made by the research team:

1. The society will urge and support more diligent enforcement of the California law protecting the condor.

2. A special Audubon condor warden will be hired to supplement the protection work of state conservation officers and the U.S. Forest Service.

3. Audubon societies, nationally and in California, will undertake educational measures to arouse public interest in condor protection.

4. The society will work with forest service officials in trying to work out a system of buffer zones that will give additional protection to the condor around existing sanctuaries in the Los Padres National Forest.

5. The society will encourage pest-control agencies to adopt practices that will avoid hazards to the condor from chemical pesticides.

Mr. Buchheister said the society would request the aid of all conservation organizations in opposing the proposed Topa Topa dam that water interests want to construct on the edge of the 53,000-acre Sespe Wildlife Area. This is the sanctuary that was set aside in 1951 to protect the condors' nesting grounds.

Pointing out that the sensitive condor will abandon eggs or young if human activity occurs within the vicinity of its nest, Mr. Buchheister said other solutions of the Ventura county water problem are available. If a new reservoir is necessary, he said, a site should be found "that would not sacrifice one of the world's rarest, most spectacular, and most scientifically valuable birds."

Arrived From England

Mrs. Jessica Gilby, the mother of Mrs. Dudley Nix, has arrived from Chichester, England, just in time for Christmas. She plans to make an extended visit here to see her many Carmel friends.

Dudley Nix left Thursday for a month in the West Indies. He will stop enroute, to visit his mother in New Orleans before going to Jamaica where he will stay at the Tennis Club, to "brush up" on his favorite sport.

Ensign True Coming Home

Dr. and Mrs. William True will entertain the Adrian Bennett family for Christmas dinner. Unfortunately Bill, the True's eldest son, will not get home from the Navy Supply School in Athens, Georgia, from which he has just graduated as an ensign, until January 3.

Enroute from Georgia, Bill will spend five days in Washington, visiting friends and have Christmas dinner with his aunt, Mrs. Richard Renfro, in North Carolina. His third stop will be to see friends in Missouri.

After two weeks at home Ensign True will join the U.S.S Columbus, a guided missile cruiser, somewhere in the mid-Pacific.

The True's younger son, Gregg, will assist his parents in hosting the Christmas day feast.

Home For Holidays

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Decker, who will always be thought of as Carmelites although they now live in Corral de Tierra, will have their two children with them for the Christmas season. Paget, a freshman at California Western University, San Diego, and Durell, a senior at the University of California, Los Angeles, are both at home.

The holiday season is here . . .
and in the midst of all the merry-making, we'd like to extend best wishes and greetings to our friends.

Governor's Card

Governor and Mrs. Edmund G. Brown's Christmas card to the Pine Cone was in color this year. The Governor and his wife are seated, each with a grandchild on their knee, and with five other grandchildren clustered beside them. In back are "Grandma and Grandpa's" children and their spouses. Of particular interest to Carmelites is Pat Casey, a graduate of Carmel High School who is married to the former Barbara Brown. In front of them are their two sons, Charles Jr. and John. Others pictured with the governor and his wife are their daughter, Cynthia, and her husband, Joe Kelly; the Browns' son, Jerry; and another daughter, Kathy, who attended Santa Catalina School for Girls. In addition to the Casey boys, the grandchildren are Carol, Kathleen, Joey, Cynthia and Patricia Kelly.

On the front of the card is a drawing of the Executive Mansion of the State of California embellished with holly. This house, in all its Victorian splendor, looks as though it were intended to illustrate a "good old times" Christmas card, rather than be the home of the governor of the state with the most people, and growing by the hour.

Santa Claus Once Lost Control Of Dancer And Prancer In Carmel

Grace McGowan Cooke, the Carmel writer for whom Sinclair Lewis acted as secretary when he was a young man, lived on Thirteenth Street a block or so from the beach. She invited so many persons to picnic in the cove at the foot of Thirteenth that it has been known ever since as Cooke's Cove.

In 1929, Mrs. Cooke wrote for the Pine Cone her memories of the early days of the village. One of these reminiscences was about an occasion when Santa and his reindeer had a little mishap on San Carlos Street.

This is her story.

"We were told that Santa Claus would come over in his sledge driving two prancing reindeer and bringing a gift for every child in town. It was a daylight affair. Mothers were asked to bring their children, walk out to meet the saint and escort him in.

"We were to gather at the corner of Ocean and San Carlos where the old watering trough stood then. From there we streamed on up San Carlos. Every mother and child in Carmel must have been out for we were quite a big crowd.

"Jingle — jingle — jingle." Santa's sleighbells. The children went wild. The jingling was coming nearer. But it sounded in irregular bursts and there seemed to be some rather hectic shouting also.

"Had something gone wrong? No. As we looked, the sledge swung around the last turn with Santa standing up in it. We could here him calling to his team; encouraging them, we supposed, with 'On, Prancer! On, Dancer!

But what he was really yelling was 'Hey — whoa! Whoa, there!' for the noble antlers on Prancer's head—or it may have been Dancer's—were slipping. They slewed around and over one eye. He kicked. His team-mate took a hand —or a hoof—in the affair. The reindeer were running away.

"The children scattered as the kicking, plunging team came dragging the yawing sledge toward them with Santa yelling to try to stop the runaways

"He couldn't do it; but they did it themselves. They swerved out to one side and ran full pelt, one on each side of a little pine tree. Santa hopped out sputtering through his cotton whiskers 'All right, the toys are distributed.' (They were—all over the road.)

" 'Every kid grab what he can' " advised the genial saint and the scramble was on.

The two reindeer stood revealed as the Peake donkeys, each with a pair of antlers fastened to its head. They hadn't liked the sleigh bells; but Joe Hand, who was the Santa Claus, had managed to hold them all right until the antlers slipped.

Christmas Eve Party

The John Gardiners, up the Valley, will have a Christmas Eve dinner party for family and close friends. The chief feature of the evening will be musical entertainment by the children.

Party For Neighbors

Mr. and Mrs. George Yates of Pebble Beach entertained at cocktails last week for neighbors, "No Christmas tree, but Christmas spirits ran high" the hostess said.

Skiing In Sun Valley

Lt. (j.g.) Mike Raggett, USN, will not be able to get home for Christmas with his parents, the Mark Raggetts, so has written that he will have to settle for the next best thing—skiing in Sun Valley.

Jon, Mike's younger brother, arrived home from Princeton University on Sunday. He traveled to San Francisco on Tuesday to attend a party that night, and the debutante cotillion at the Sheraton Palace Hotel last night. Back in Carmel today, he will celebrate Christmas and New Year's days at home, returning to school January 3.

High School Choir

John Farr has through many years been part of Carmel's Christmas with his Carmel High School carollers bringing joy to all parts of the area. This year their happy voices have been heard by the Carmel Business Association; All Saints' Episcopal Church Women; at Monterey Peninsula College Assembly and the Rotary Club. Also, the Community Church Women's Association; Hacienda Carmel; Community Hospital and at the lighting of Carmel's Christmas tree. Friday they 'sang at the Carmel High School during the school's Christmas sing.

Party Before Play

With ten-year-old Richard Hopelain appearing as the goldsmith's son in the First Theatre of Monterey holiday production of James Thurber's "Many Moons," Christmas celebration commenced in the Richard Hopelain home on Sunday afternoon with a champagne buffet preceding the opening of the play on Sunday evening.

"It was all quite informal," Mrs. Hopelain said, "as our home just wouldn't hold all of our Carmel friends."

Assisting her mother as hostess and largely responsible for the exquisite Yuletide decorations was Rick's sister Pat, (Mrs. Bill Cearley) who will be leaving shortly for France to join her husband, an officer in the U.S. Air Force stationed at Laon.

Terri, the Hopelain's younger daughter, arrived home from the University of California, Los Angeles, yesterday, for the holidays.

New Year's Eve Gala Opening At Studio Theatre

Producers Betty Hackett and Royden Martin have set New Year's Eve as the gala opening night at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant, for their new production, "Goodbye Charlie." A special intermission party has been planned for the opening night audience.

"Goodbye Charlie" produced on Broadway, with Lauren Bacall in the starring role, as a frantic, zany farce, written by George Axelrod whose imagination and comic sense have been described as weirdly wonderful.

The director, Roy Baxter, is a graduate of the Pasadena Playhouse where he was awarded his B.A. in directing. He is currently appearing in the Studio's production of "A Thousand Clowns."

Following the New Year's Eve performance, "Goodbye Charlie" will run Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30, with dinner served from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

The final performances of "A Thousand Clowns" will be given this Saturday and Sunday evenings. The theatre will be dark tomorrow (Christmas) night.

Michaels' Christmas Card

Home for Christmas are the two sons of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Michael, Peter and Paul. Peter, a jet flyer now undergoing training with Squadron 25 at Chase Field Naval Auxiliary Air Station in Beeville, Texas, will be designated a naval aviator and receive his "Wings of Gold" early in the spring.

Paul is a senior at Chico State College.

Dr. Michael, famous amongst his innumerable friends from coast to coast for his unique and beautiful Christmas cards, has created for the family's 1964 Christmas greeting, a memento of rare artistic and historic individuality. His theme—the Santa Lucias, illustrated with an aerial view of the range just south of Carmel.

Shower For Ellen

Happy excitement holds sway in the home of Mrs Donald Paul McKelvey where not only Christmas will be celebrated with all the family at home but just 48 hours later, on Sunday afternoon, Ellen McKelvey will become the bride of Henry Martin Weyrauch III, of San Francisco.

The wedding will take place in All Saints' Episcopal Church at 4:30 o'clock, with the Reverend David Hill officiating. A small reception for relatives and close family friends of the bride and groom will be held in the bride's home following the ceremony.

Ellen's sister, Janet (Mrs. William Graeble Jr.) of Logan, Utah, who will be matron of honor, has already arrived with her husband, who also will be one of the wedding party, and their two small sons, Dick and Don.

Bridesmaids will be Nicki Wilson and Marcia McGinnis, former Carmel High School friends of the bride.

A miscellaneous shower, against a background of Christmas decorations, was given for Ellen by Mrs. Audrey Martin Tetley, Mrs. Robert McGinnis and Mrs. Roderick W. Wilson on Sunday afternoon.

all, this Merry, Merry Christmas.

I think the architects around these parts are just about the greatest guys I ever heard of—and so does 11-year-old Jeremy Street. At that perfectly marvelous sand castle contest they had two Sundays ago, Jeremy won an honorable mention. He was one of the first competitors to arrive and worked like sixty on his handsome landscaped sphinx. And then his parents came along and dragged him home early because they thought he was getting a sore throat. His stepsister, Dewie Dutton, acted as proxy, though, and went up to receive his trophy. Ditto his friend, Judy Ale. So in the confusion Jeremy ended up with two of those pretty shell prizes.

Now that the new firehouse doors are painted a bright red, Chief Bob Smith says the volunteer firemen are going to give a concert. As yet, he only hints at the musical accomplishments of his men, but they're practicing and he's right in there contributing his own talents. He does promise, however, that the fire department, despite its musical bent, will not be a candidate for quarters in the cultural center when the city takes over Sunset School.

One Carmel husband doesn't keep abreast of ladies' fashions as well as he might. He was in downtown Monterey a few days ago and there were lots of girls walking around in high boots. "Hey," said he to his wife, "are the canneries opening up again?"

As a rule, we Carmelites are pretty callous about things tourist. But last week there took place a little drama that brought a lump to many a hardened old throat. A couple, so very obviously newlywed, were strolling about when all of a sudden, he told her to wait where she was and popped into a toy store. He came out carrying a paper crown, a tiny gold fairy queen crown, which he carefully fitted around her ash blond topknot. They stood very still and very close together on the busy sidewalk, just staring at themselves reflected in each other's eyes. I had to move away, finally, to go blow my nose; so I never did see him kiss her.

Dr. von Urban

Dr. Rudolph von Urban, a physician noted for his work in the fields of psychology, sexology and psychiatry, died in his Carmel home on December 18.

Born in Vienna in 1879, Dr. von Urban received his M.D. degree at the University of Vienna in 1904.

He came to California in 1936 and to live in Carmel in 1941. It was here that he wrote "Sex Perfection and Marital Happiness," a volume which he dedicated to the late Judge Henry G. Jorgensen of the Monterey County Superior Court.

Dr. von Urban became an American citizen in 1943. He devoted much of his time to the prevention of divorce and settled innumerable cases out of court.

His late years have been given to writing.

He is survived by his wife, Virginia Jacqueline von Urban of Carmel; two daughters living in Europe and four grandchildren.

Private funeral services were held in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, with the Paul Mortuary in charge.

Sparkling Gift To The Community

Sparkling, exuberant and beautifully costumed Carmel Youth Center members presented the community with their Christmas gift—a bit of themselves in their happiest mood — in their annual Christmas Capers on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Capacity audiences awarded the almost 100 singers, dancers, musicians, tumblers, "dramatic" actors and pantomimists with thunderous applause through swiftly paced, beautifully staged acts and ensembles presented with an amazing touch of professionalism.

The stage crew, under the indefatigable guidance of Youth Center director, Jack Giles, did a magnificent job of shifting the colorful sets.

Above all, laurels, or should we say a mammoth Christmas wreath, must go to young Pam Baldwin, director of Christmas Capers.

Home From Australia

Mrs. William R. Gargiulo is very happy this Christmastime because she has with her, her son, Bill, his wife, Jill, and their children, eight-year-old Jill and five-year-old Bill. They flew home from Sydney, Australia, where Bill Sr. is general manager of an American drug firm, and arrived in Carmel on Monday.

This is the first time that Bill's family has been in Carmel for three and a half years although he has stopped to see his mother on business trips to the United States. They will stay here through the holiday season and be busy greeting Bill's Carmel High schoolmates and other friends on the Peninsula.

Miss Flanner

Miss Katherine Flanner, a resident of Carmel since 1947, died on December 22, following a brief illness.

Miss Flanner, a native of Chicago Heights, Illinois, was 72 years of age. For many years she was a librarian at Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York City.

Upon retirement in 1947, Miss Flanner came to Carmel with a close friend, Miss Harriet Hays. The two made their home at Lopez and Fourth until recently when Miss Flanner moved to Sundial Court.

Miss Flanner leaves a sister, Mrs. E. E. Franchot of New York City.

Private funeral services, followed by inurnment, were held at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, on December 23. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS! Why not, when home is as charming as this? Santa may rest in the 18½ x 19' master bedroom with its own sundeck, and there are two other beautiful bedrooms, plus two baths. Large living room with decorator-designed book case with music center for phonograph, radio and T.V. Hang your stockings by the fireplace, and enjoy Christmas at home, a real home, for only $35,000.

DECK THE HALLS! Actually it will take a little more than holly to polish this tarnished jewel, but it's just across the street from the beach, and it has four bedrooms, four baths, a full dining room and a lanai and a very large living room with stone fireplace. Try to match it for just $43,000.

PUT THIS IN YOUR STOCKING! The best value in the Monterey Peninsula Country Club. A 3 bedroom, 15 year old redwood home on large fenced lot, sunny area. $29,500!

LOTS OF JOY! Joyful lots, skipping distance to town, and level too! With oaks and pines. Impossibly priced at $11,500.

WE WISH YOU A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS

Col. Schneeberger

With the death of Colonel Philip Schneeberger (USAF Ret.) Carmel lost a well loved citizen and the Monterey Peninsula an outstanding patron of music.

Colonel Schneeberger died on December 16 in San Francisco following a lengthy illness. With his wife, Mary Loiuse, and his daughter, Paula, Colonel Schneeberger lived in Carmel for 18 years. His home, Moongate, on Scenic Drive was an hospitable center for musicians and connoisseurs of music. He served on the board of directors of the Carmel Bach Festival and the Monterey County Symphony Association, also, for a time was president of the symphony board.

Born in Baltimore, Maryland, Colonel Schneeberger had his early schooling there and received his Ph.D. degree in chemistry at Johns Hopkins University where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

After graduating from Johns Hopkins, Colonel Schneeberger went to the Barber Asphalt Co., of New Jersey, a subsidiary of General Petroleum, as head of the chemical laboratory. He remained with that company for four years.

He entered the U.S. Army in 1917 and graduated from the Army's Balloon and Airship School in 1922; the Air Service Advanced Flying and Technical Observation School in 1924, and from the Army Industrial College in 1931.

He and Miss Mary Louise Love were married in Honolulu, Hawaii, in 1933, while he was serving as executive officer at Wheeler Field, the Air Arm of Schofield Barracks.

For four years prior to World War II, Colonel Schneeberger headed the USAF industrial planning section in Los Angeles, with its headquarters at Wright Field in Dayton, Ohio. From the Spring of 1940 to the Fall of 1942 Colonel Schneeberger was wartime chief of the Industrial Planning Section at Wright Field.

Colonel Schneeberger suffered a heart attack in 1942 which forced his retirement from active service in the U.S. Air Force.

Before coming to Carmel to make their home, Colonel and Mrs. Schneeberger lived in Southern California.

Colonel Schneeberger is survived by his wife; his daughter, now Mrs. Paula Gelert of Upland; two brothers, Sigmund Schneeberger of Baltimore, Maryland, and Irving Snowdon of Washington, D.C.; also three grandchildren, John, Lars and Cynthia Gelert.

Private family services were held in San Francisco on Friday, with inurnment in the Bay area.

Some Carmelites Exchange Pines For Palms This Christmastide

While many Carmel homes will be overflowing with guests and festive hospitality during the Yuletide season, it seems that travel to southern climes and far northern snows has irresistible attractions too.

Flying to, or already in Hawaii for Christmas and New Year celebration, are the Carl E. Mennekens of Pebble Beach with Miss Margaret Thompson of Carmel. The Ralph Stean family, also the Paul Porters, flew down last week. Mrs. Derek Rayne plans to spend a few weeks in the sunshine leaving Carmel on Saturday.

Also enjoying the gaiety in Honolulu are Mrs. Frank O'Neal of Carmel Valley with her two children, Molly and Johnny; Frank finds his office too busy at this time of year for him to get away.

And the James Douds, who have been in the Islands for some time, have made no immediate plans about coming home.

Colonel Arcadi Gluckman and Mrs. Gluckman, with Mrs. Marguerite Chapman, who is making her home in San Francisco now, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hackney, all old friends, will be in Mexico for the next fortnight.

Mrs. Helen Smith and Miss Genevieve Gehres are bound for Mexico. Mrs. Smith plans to return to Carmel after the New Year, but Miss Gehres will go on to Guatemala and an extended tour.

Mr. and Mrs. Leet W. Bissell are spending the holidays in Colorado Springs.

Mrs. Kim Canavarro and her family will brave the snows of Timberline, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew C. Jenkins will celebrate the New Year in Phoenix, Arizona.

Mr and Mrs. Robert Ross are in Spokane, Washington, for the holiday season, visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Craven Ross.

CAROL SERVICE

Last Sunday evening members, guests and friends of Carmel's Church in the Round, with their children, gathered in the American Legion Hall for a Candlelit Carol Service.

The music program was under the direction of Robert Arenz. Notable were the silvery voice and fine guitar technique of Lisa Buchenroth, folk-singer from Carmel Valley, who presented a varied program of traditional, and lesser-known Christmas carols. Karel Vit, minister of the Church in the Round, sang traditional Czech carols. James Swinney and Robert Towner of Berkeley, who are visiting Robert's grandmother, Mrs. Marion Towner, presented a duet of two Christmas songs. Original Christmas songs, written by Marion Towner and Robert Arenz were sung by Roger Eshleman and the nine Arenz children.

Traditional refreshments were served from a gaily decorated table before "Mrs. Santa" was announced and Mrs. Ruth Arndt presented her homemade, gingerbread men and a candy cane to each child.

Robert Rendrick, president of the group, made a short speech thanking Marion Towner for all the work she has done for the church, and presented her with a book suitably inscribed. Mrs. Towner is planning to make her home in Southern California.

Christmas Services In Carmel Churches

A Solemn Pontifical Mass will be celebrated this evening at midnight in Carmel Mission Basilica with the Right Reverend Bishop Harry A. Clinch officiating. Masses will be celebrated tomorrow at 7 a.m. and every hour thereafter until the last mass at 12:15 p.m.

Midnight services this evening at All Saints' Episcopal Church will start with Holy Communion at 11 p.m. Tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. there will be a parish festival celebration service.

A Christmas Eve service with special music at the Church of the Wayfarer will begin at 11 p.m.

The traditional Christmas Eve candlelight service at the Carmel Presbyterian Church will be held tonight at 11 p.m.

The Community Church will have a family Christmas candlelight service tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Nix Studio.

NO GARBAGE COLLECTION TOMORROW

The John Roscelli Corporation will give all members of its staff a holiday on Christmas Day and New Year's Day. In consequence no garbage will be collected on the two days.

Today, garbage was collected for this week in Carmel. Saturday is the day set for collection on Carmel Point.

Collection days will be the same next week.

City Fathers Ask Santa Claus For Gifts To Carmel

and maybe Santa Claus, haven't heard him, he asked that this section be printed.

It says, "Carmel is essentially and predominately a residential community in which business and commerce have been, are now, and are proposed to be in the future subordinated to its residential character."

Mr. Norberg also wants peace and quiet for Carmel in the holiday season. Thirdly, he is asking Santa Claus to lift from the consent calendar of the city council to the January agenda several matters which have been pending for some time.

COUNCILMAN BUFFINGTON

Mr. Buffington is asking Santa Claus for a new police station for Carmel and underneath the new police station he would like a nice pistol range. He wants Santa to know that the Carmel police department has good men and good equipment and deserves a police station of the same superior quality.

COUNCILMAN GRANT

Councilman Grant is requesting that Santa bring to Carmel tonight, for just 24 hours, a spirit of understanding and cooperation, cohesiveness and purpose.

If Santa manages to crowd these requests from the city fathers into his bulging bag, Carmel will be a more beautiful, more efficient, more understanding and happier city in which to live than it is now . . . and have even more dogs.

Are you listening Santa?
